EDUCATION | Evidence of compliance with accreditation standards lacking, group says

LCCC placed on probation

By JENNIFER LEARNANDES

The Middle States Commission on Higher Education has placed Luzerne County Community College on probation for failing to provide sufficient evidence that the institution has complied with several accreditation standards, according to college officials and the commission's website.

The college will remain accredited by the commission while on probation, the site says. Middle States accreditation is a stamp of approval required for the institution to operate and receive government subsidy.

Leary

College President Thomas Leary

said the institution will provide the necessary documentation and comply with any requirements to restore its full accreditation status. A meeting with Middle States representatives will be held next month to review outstanding compliance issues, he said.

Current and incoming students at the college will not experience any change in classes or scheduling as a result of the probation status, Leary said.

"This has nothing to do with the quality of education. It is so important for the students to understand that," Leary said.

The commission places an institution on probation when it believes an institution's noncompliance with accreditation standards

Riccardi's life spared after jury deadlocks

Convicted murderer to receive automatic life sentence when jury can't decide on death.

WILKES-BARRE — The jury in the Elvis Riccardi murder trial deadlocked on the death penalty late Friday night, setting the stage for an automatic life sentence.

The jury deliberated for approximately three and a half hours before notifying Luzerne County Judge Joseph Augello of a stalemate around 10:30 p.m.

Augello set Riccardi's sentencing for 9:30 a.m. on July 27.

Riccardi maintained his innocence in the murder of Donnie Skiff of Plymouth.

"Nobody spared my life except for God," he said before being led out of the courtroom to be returned to the Luzerne County Correctional Facility. "Coming back on appeal."

District Attorney Jackie Musko Carroll described the case as heart wrenching, but drew solace out of Riccardi's spending the rest of his life behind bars without parole.
