The old man is to have the ring in his mouth, as a punishment, but when he lets it go, he will be free to return to his own time, and bring his wife back. The fact that the only person able to see the forces of the sky is a little girl will play an important role in the film. It is not completely accurate, but the logic is pretty clear. V. 5 can be understood as: If there were a threat to the kingdom from the sky, and a demon was not available to protect it, the King would feel free to follow the logic of the Golden Rule and send the little girl to the sky to see what is in there. The film makes a clear reference to the Greek tragedy Antigone, in which a brother is sentenced to death because his sister has violated the taboo that men and women should not bury the same dead person. He is also surprised that he can remember everything that has happened to him, and he is also surprised that he is able to see that nothing has changed.
